An online community for members

Members of PRS and MCPS now have an additional benefit to their membership; an online community where members can network and collaborate with other musicians as well as showcase their music to potential users.

The online community is provided by Song Tank, a professional resource for songwriters, composers, copyright owners and commissioners of music.

The 50,000 members of PRS and MCPS can now get an exclusive Song Tank profile with additional benefits, heavily discounted from standard rates. Members will also be given access to 250MB of music storage space. A membership log-in to the MCPS-PRS website is required to take advantage of the Song-Tank offer.

High profile PRS members like Guy Chambers and Steve Mac already use the site.

Steve Mac, said: 'As a busy writer and producer, time comes at a premium. Song Tank gives my chosen network of colleagues the facility to browse my catalogue of both recorded and un-recorded work and contact me in an extremely efficient way. It certainly saves a lot of wasted time and effort.'
